

CONDRON CONCRETE

AREA SALES MANAGER – UK

Condron Concrete is a long-established manufacturer with a strong reputation for quality, reliability and service across the construction sector. As we continue to grow our presence in the UK market, we are now seeking to appoint an Area Sales Manager to represent our full range of products, including Roof Tiles, Concrete Pipes, Manholes, Plastic Twinwall Pipes and related accessories.

The Role

The successful candidate will represent all Condron Concrete product categories in the UK market, developing new business opportunities while also building strong relationships with customers, merchants, contractors and key industry stakeholders.

Key responsibilities will include:

- Growing sales across Condron Concrete's full product portfolio
- Identifying and developing new business opportunities in the UK market
- Managing and strengthening relationships with existing customers
- Working closely with internal teams to ensure excellent customer service and delivery
- Monitoring market activity, competitor trends and commercial opportunities
- Representing the company professionally at meetings, events and across the wider industry

The ideal candidate will have:

- A proven track record in sales, ideally within construction, building materials or a related sector
- Strong commercial awareness and relationship-building skills
- The ability to work independently and deliver results
- Excellent communication and presentation skills
- A full driving licence
- A proactive, energetic and professional approach

What we offer:

- Salary of circa £50,000
- Company car
- The opportunity to join a respected and growing business
- A key role in developing Condron Concrete's UK market presence
